This report contains the findings of the Maritime Growth Study. It includes recommendations to both government and industry on: - maintaining the UK's position as a world-leading maritime centre; - exploiting opportunities to generate further growth in the sector. The study was chaired by Lord Mountevans, who recommends that action is taken in specific areas to provide: -leadership by both government and industry, including a more commercial and responsive UK maritime administration within government and an industry-led promotional body; -more proactive action to replenish and develop the skills needed to maintain a world-leading maritime centre; -effective marketing by industry and government of what the UK maritime sector has to offer both domestically and internationally.
