

ILO webinar on labour market relevance and quality assurance of apprenticeships

Kind:	Event
Start Date:	06 Aug 2020
End Date:	01 Jan 1970
Event Location:
EventType:
Language:
Language Version:	--
Sources:
Topics:
Knowledge Products:

This webinar will be held during the free Massive Open Online Course (MOOC) on Quality Apprenticeships, conducted on the ITC/ILO e-campus platform.

During the MOOC, several webinars would be organized to provide a platform for an open discussion between experts and participants in which insights, ideas and concerns are shared. This webinar will be organised on the pattern of a research symposium, taking up an in-depth case study of an emerging economy/ BRICS countries. In this manner, the webinar would benefit a number of countries around the world. Specifically, the objectives of this webinar are:

- What are the main components of quality assurance system for apprenticeships in South Africa that ensures the labour market relevance of apprenticeship programs?
- How is the process to select occupations for apprenticeships aligned to the Labour Market needs?
- How are the social partners and other stakeholders involved in the design of curriculum?
- What are some of the assessment strategies and processes developed and implemented for apprenticeship qualifications?
- How is an apprenticeship registered, monitored and certificated within a quality apprenticeship system?
- What are the strengths and weaknesses of the quality assurance system?
- How the labour market relevance of apprenticeship programs be improved?

To learn more click on the link

provided below:

ILO webinar on labour market relevance and quality assurance of apprenticeships

Subject Tags:

Regions:

Countries and territories:

Economic groups: --