ILO Global Forum on a Just Transition towards Environmentally Sustainable Economies and Societies for All

The global Forum will discuss the results of a new study conducted in 31 countries transitioning to greener economic activities. The event is being organized in the context of the celebration of the ILO Centenary. It also takes place as part of the ILO Green Week and the 2019 World Environment Day. The objectives of the Forum are to: discuss current and future occupational needs and skills gaps in the context of the Future of Work, green technological changes and climate action; recognize environmental challenges and finding effective skills response strategies, good practices; and solutions for social dialogue for a just transition for all; discuss potential international collaboration on the Just Transition to achieve the SDG8, and strengthen the climate action by advancing green human capital. To learn more, click on the link provided below.
